CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Over forty years ago, New Jersey became the second state to offer legalized casino gaming. It was a different era and casinos were unique. They were limited to Atlantic City in order to bolster its resort, tourist and convention industry—which was recognized as a critically important and valuable asset in the continued viability and economic strength of the tourist, convention and resort industry of the State of New Jersey.

Today, casinos are among the largest economic engines in the state. They continue to make a significant contribution to the revitalization of Atlantic City as a world-class destination resort. New Jersey's healthy casino industry continues to provide economic growth, create jobs, and contribute vital tax revenues.

Atlantic City sustained its recent positive results in 2018. Gaming revenue was over $2.8 billion, marking three straight years of growth. The casinos paid over $231 million in gaming taxes to benefit New Jersey's programs for the aged and disabled—an increase of 9.6 percent.

On June 27, two casinos—Hard Rock and Ocean Resort—opened on the Boardwalk in Atlantic City. These properties, along with the seven already in operation, collectively spent over $568 million adding amenities and improving their facilities in 2018. Those investments have stimulated visitation. There were double-digit increases in tourism indicators including the regional sales tax and luxury tax. Occupied hotel room nights were up and retail spending increased greatly. A casino executive in Atlantic City recently said the current trends are a “promising sign of Atlantic City's continued growth.”

“Gaming revenue was over $2.8 billion, marking three straight years of growth.”

Internet gaming also continued to grow, bolstered by June's introduction of sports wagering and the crossover appeal it brings. In 2018, Internet gaming win grew 21.6 percent to almost $300 million. Cumulative Internet gross revenue over six years has passed the billion dollar mark and cumulative taxes exceed $153 million. Sports wagering also generated much excitement in Atlantic City, where sizable investments were made to create first class sports book lounges. These facilities have added an exciting new dimension to the resort experience, providing yet another reason for gaming and leisure customers to visit and stay.

Beyond the successes of the gaming industry, some really great things are happening in Atlantic City. A brand new and amazing ocean front campus of Stockton University opened this year. South Jersey Industries has moved into its new corporate headquarters and a small-business-focused renewal called the Orange Loop continues to take shape. New market rate housing is being added. These and other projects are creating a lot of positive vibes that are improving the experiences of visitors and residents alike.

“... public confidence is built ... through fulfilling the promises of shared prosperity.”

In the first year of his term, Governor Phil Murphy commissioned Lieutenant Governor Sheila Oliver to spearhead the state’s efforts in Atlantic City. With significant participation from social leaders, a thorough plan was developed under the leadership of Special Counsel Jim Johnson. Entitled “Atlantic City: Building A Foundation For A Shared Prosperity,” the plan provides a framework for sustainable progress. It is being implemented very collaboratively and aggressively through the efforts of the Atlantic City Executive Council and Atlantic City Coordinating Council.

The Commission is committed to actively supporting this plan and working with other stakeholders to move Atlantic City forward. We have made strides helping provide the underserved with access to job opportunities, which is a critical step in breaking the cycle of poverty. In partnership with the American Legion, we hosted the well-received “Bet on a Vet” casino career fair to connect unemployed veterans with opportunities at every casino. We have also been assisting the Department of Corrections, the State Parole Board, and the New Jersey Judiciary with their shared goal to increase employer awareness of the many advantages of employing rehabilitated, trained and skilled workers who have successfully exited the criminal justice system.

“Cumulative Internet gross revenue over six years has passed the billion dollar mark and cumulative taxes exceed $153 million.”

In this time of change, the Commission’s mission—to promote public confidence and trust in the credibility and integrity of the gaming industry—remains critical and unchanged. Under my chairmanship, the Commission acknowledges that public confidence is built not only through demonstrated integrity, but also through fulfilling the promises of shared prosperity. For this reason, the Commission is recommitted to its vision to “be a key partner and catalyst in promoting the general welfare, health, and prosperity of Atlantic City, the Greater Atlantic City Region, and the State of New Jersey.”

Very truly yours,

James T. Plousis
Chairman

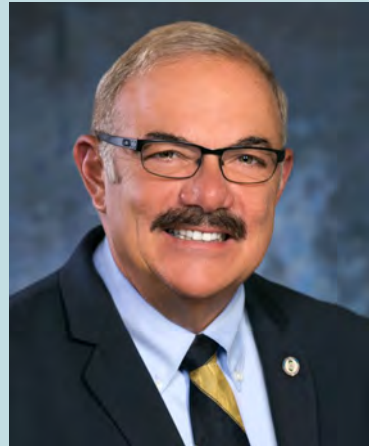

COMMISSION MEMBERS

James T. Plousis is a veteran public service and law enforcement professional well known for his leadership skills. He was sworn in as the eighth chairman of the Commission on December 26, 2017. He has reinvigorated the Commission's vision as a "key partner and catalyst in promoting the general welfare, health and prosperity of New Jersey", and has continued his strong track record of identifying and implementing efficiencies.

Plousis presided over licensing hearings for both the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino and Ocean Resort during his first year as chairman. He is committed to the state's efforts to revitalize Atlantic City. He expanded the Commission's participation in the community, helping to increase awareness of the many non-profit groups working to improve Atlantic City.

As an ex-officio member of the Casino Reinvestment Development Authority, he took initiative to promote cooperation in the regional tourism industry through outreach to the business community. He worked with veterans groups to develop opportunities that link unemployed veterans with job opportunities in the casino industry. He also assisted the Department of Corrections, the State Parole Board, and the New Jersey Judiciary with their shared goal to increase employer awareness of the many advantages of employing rehabilitated, trained and skilled workers who have successfully exited the criminal justice system.

His vast experience includes serving as the chairman for the State Parole Board, as United States Marshal for New Jersey, and as sheriff of Cape May County for six terms. He coordinated two of the largest Fugitive Safe Surrender Programs in the nation and managed security for the Fort Dix Five Terrorist Trial in Camden. The suspects were all convicted of plotting an armed attack at the military base. He was the U.S. Marshals' Service Liaison for New Orleans during Hurricane Katrina. As liaison, he assisted with jail evacuations and provided key law enforcement support.

James T. Plousis

As chairman of the State Parole Board, Plousis partnered with government, non-profit and private agencies to connect ex-prisoners with vocational, mental health and other key services. He also spearheaded efforts to address the needs of veterans in the criminal justice system.

Plousis serves on the Advisory Board of the Lloyd D. Levenson Institute of Gaming, Hospitality and Tourism at Stockton University. He is an active volunteer for several organizations, including Hand to Hand for Haiti. He is a graduate of Slippery Rock University and Rutgers University's Public Manager Program. He lives in Ocean City and has two adult children.

COMMISSION MEMBERS

Vice Chair

Sharon Anne Harrington became a Commissioner in July 2009. She was reappointed in June 2013.

Harrington has served as Vice Chair an unprecedented seven terms. During her tenure, the industry has been challenged with competition and economic turmoil, and has evolved from gaming-centric into a diversified entertainment destination.

Previously, Harrington served as Chair and Chief Administrator of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission. Under her leadership, services were modernized and streamlined and it was regarded as one of the most successful agencies in the state. She was Vice Chair of the Region 1 Board of Directors of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and sat on the International Board.

Harrington has served as State Director for two U.S. Senators. Private sector experience included Managing Partner of Public Strategies Impact, a Government Relations/Public Affairs firm. Under four governors, she served as Chair of the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, working with policy leaders to advance support for the arts and cultural initiatives. She has served as a Commissioner of the State Ethics Commission, Urban Enterprise Zone Authority, and New Jersey Cemetery Board.

Currently, she serves as Chair of Art Pride New Jersey, the state's largest arts service organization. Harrington is also an active member of the Atlantic City Arts Foundation Advisory Committee. Previous community and philanthropic service includes, The Kennedy Center President's Advisory Council on the Arts, Atlantic City Special Improvement District Advisory Committee, New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, New Jersey Shakespeare Festival, Passage Theatre, New Jersey Performing Arts Center, Women of Irish Heritage of the Jersey Shore, as well as The New Jersey Cultural Trust.

Harrington is a graduate of Glassboro State College, now Rowan University, where she served on the Alumni Board and is currently a member of the President's Forum. She is married to George Sullivan. They reside in Bradley Beach.

Commissioner

Alisa Cooper was appointed Commissioner in August 2012. In 2014, she was reappointed to a five year term.

Cooper joined the Commission during a very challenging time for gaming in Atlantic City. As a Commissioner and with her extensive background and knowledge of the area, she has been involved in major decisions, allowing the industry to adapt to a changing market, re-invent itself, and attract visitors for more than just gambling.

Born and raised in Atlantic City and an alumna of Atlantic City High School, Cooper earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Music Education from the University of Maryland. Upon graduation, she returned to Atlantic City where she had a successful career in the music and entertainment industry, owning "Alisa Cooper Orchestras" for several decades. Her lifelong passion for music also led to a long career as a music educator. In 2008, Cooper was appointed to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, which enabled her to further promote music and the arts throughout the state.

In 2005, Cooper was elected to the Atlantic County Board of Chosen Freeholders and was re-elected in 2008. As an elected official, she served on various committees that positively impacted the lives of Atlantic County residents. Over her distinctive career as a professional musician, businesswoman, public official, and music educator, she has received numerous awards for her charitable activities. She has helped raise thousands of dollars for The Community Food Bank of South Jersey and the Atlantic County Animal Shelter. In 2014, Cooper was inducted into the "Atlantic County Women's Hall of Fame" for her commitment to public service and government.

Currently, she sits on the Board of the Community Foundation of South Jersey and is actively involved with a large number of community, philanthropic, and civic organizations.

Cooper lives in Linwood with her husband Doug Little and their son, David Cooper Little, a student at Delaware Law School-Widener University.

Hearings and Appeals

The Casino Control Commission (Commission) is the panel charged with licensing New Jersey's casinos and its key employees. As a quasi-judicial panel, the Commission conducts hearings on contested casino key employee license matters as well as appeals from decisions of or penalties imposed by the Division of Gaming Enforcement (Division).

The Commission is comprised of up to three members, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the State Senate. Commissioners serve staggered, five-year terms and can only be removed for cause. By law, no more than two commissioners can be of the same political party, a requirement that provides political balance on the panel.

The success and ongoing viability of the gaming industry remains inextricably linked to the public's confidence that the State of New Jersey will ensure that people in the industry possess good character, honesty and integrity. Stewardship over that public confidence is a principal responsibility of the Commission and its Chairman.

The Commission's regulatory efforts through the years have helped create an environment in which New Jersey's casinos can prosper and from which the citizens of New Jersey benefit. With proper regulatory controls, the industry serves as a catalyst to create economic benefits for Atlantic City, the Greater Atlantic City Region, and the entire State of New Jersey.

The Commission holds regular public meetings to consider and render decisions upon applications, based on investigations and recommendations of the Division. The Commission also holds conferences, and hearings when necessary, on contested casino key employee license matters.

ATLANTIC CITY CASINOS

40 Years of Casino Gaming

At 10 a.m. on May 26, 1978, the first legal casino outside of Nevada opened to the public under a temporary permit issued by the Commission. People lined up for blocks at all entrances to be among the first to legally gamble in Atlantic City. Soon after, New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne cut the ceremonial ribbon and declared Resorts International opened. Steve Lawrence threw out the first dice. This event was recreated to celebrate Resorts Casino Hotel's 40th Anniversary.

Capital investment in the Atlantic City casino industry on a cumulative basis since 1978, including the initial cost of construction for each property and subsequent capital improvements, has been $18.2 billion. Examples of 2018 capital improvements included: the renovations to open the Hard Rock and Ocean Resort casinos and the renovations at the Chelsea Tower including a new sky bridge to connect with the Tropicana.

INTERNET GAMING

For the year ended December 2018, Internet Gaming Win was $298.7 million, an increase of $53 million or 21.6 percent. Internet Gaming Win grew in each of the twelve months. Golden Nugget had the largest year-over-year increase of 52.8 percent, leading the market for three years in a row. Both new casinos, the Hard Rock and Ocean Resort Casino, commenced Internet gaming with one site each. The chart below illustrates the continued growth of Internet gaming.

Internet Gaming Gross Revenue since inception passed the billion dollar mark in 2018, for a total of $1.2 billion. Internet Gross Revenue Tax since inception was $153.4 million. See page 47 for more detailed information on Internet Gaming Win by licensee.

In March, the third report on Internet Gaming in New Jersey issued by the Center for Gambling Studies at the Rutgers University School of Social Work was posted on the Division’s website.

Internet Gaming Highlights

Caesars Interactive Entertainment

- In May, WSOP.com and us.888poker.com began pooling players with other states. New Jersey joined Delaware and Nevada to offer interstate online poker, which permits players in all three states to play against each other. Participants can experience better game selection, larger prize pools, wider time zone coverage, and expanded tournament offerings.
- Throughout the year, on-line poker tournaments were plentiful and popular and included: Tuesday Showdown, $10K Sunday, $8K Nightly Rebuy, $5,000 Nightly Guaranteed, $10,000 Nightly Rebuy, $10,000 Big Sunday, and $30,000 Bigger Sunday.

SPORTS WAGERING

In June, legalized sports wagering came to New Jersey. Governor Murphy signed legislation on June 11th that allows legalized sports wagering at New Jersey casinos and racetracks for certain professional and collegiate sports or events. On June 14th, New Jersey became the third state to offer full-fledged legal sports wagering. The first wager was made by the Governor at Monmouth Park Racetrack. Later that day, Borgata became the first Atlantic City casino to accept a legal sports wager. The honor of the first bet at Borgata went to Julius Erving.

“This a huge step forward for gaming, for the tracks, for the economy of this state.”

Governor Murphy, after placing New Jersey’s first legal sports wagers.

Over $1.24 Billion in Sports Wagering Handle.

Over $94 Million in Sports Wagering Gross Revenue.¹

Sports Wagering Gross Revenue Tax Rate from casino and racetrack sports pool lounges: 8.5%.

Over $3.4 Million in Sports Wagering Tax Revenue.

Over 92 key licensed individuals have been approved by the Commission to oversee Sports Wagering.

Internet Sports Wagering Gross Revenue Tax Rate from casinos and racetracks: 13%.

Over $6.9 Million in Internet Sports Wagering Tax Revenue.

On August 6, 2018, the first Internet site for sports wagering in New Jersey was launched by DraftKings in partnership with Resorts Digital.

¹Sports Wagering Gross Revenue is not win and is maintained on a cash basis. Monthly Sports Wagering Revenue reflects the sum of all wagers (“handle”), less only the payouts on winning wagers. The deduction for payouts is limited to only “completed events” for the month and redeemed winning tickets. Wagers made on a “future event” are included in Sports Wagering Revenue in the month the wager was made, but payouts are deducted after the event is held and winning wagers redeemed. On a monthly basis, Sports Wagering Gross Revenue may be volatile due to “uncompleted events” and unredeemed winning tickets.

SPORTS WAGERING

To offer sports wagering, each casino and racetrack shall operate a “Sports Wagering Lounge”, which means a primary area of at least 2,500 square feet. A “Temporary Sports Pool Facility” may be approved by the Division of Gaming Enforcement (Division) until the permanent lounge is available. Borgata, Ocean Resort, Bally’s, Harrah’s, Golden Nugget, Resorts and Tropicana all commenced sports wagering with temporary locations. By year end 2018, Ocean Resort (5,000 square feet), Golden Nugget (2,500 square feet) and Resorts (5,000 square feet) opened newly constructed permanent lounges. Lounges in Atlantic City include amenities such as comfortable seating, high quality televisions and video walls, wagering windows, and access to food and beverages.

SPORTS WAGERING

The legislation signed by Governor Murphy allows casino or racetrack that holds a Sports Wagering License to offer sports wagering online with a permit issued by the Division, beginning 30 days after the effective date of the legislation. Internet sports wagering is taxed at a different rate than onsite sports wagering and all other Internet wagering. As of year end 2018, Internet Sports Wagering accounted for 57 percent of the total Sports Wagering Revenue.

CHANGE IN FINANCIAL REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Effective January 1, 2018

The Financial Accounting Standards Board and International Accounting Standards Board have updated standards, including ASC 606: "Revenue from Contracts with Customers," that impact the information recorded on a casino licensee's Statements of Income. The new standard primarily affects the presentation of promotional allowances and how a casino licensee accounts for the liability associated with its customer loyalty programs. As a result, the "Total Revenue" and "Promotional Allowances" lines have been removed from Statements of Income DGE Forms-210 and 215, and the majority of promotional allowances now offset Casino Revenue. The new standards have also resulted in certain adjustments and other reclassifications between revenue categories and expense categories. While the new standards reduce the amount of revenue recorded in the casino category, there is no substantial effect on total Net Revenues. Note that 2017 Statement of Income figures reflected in last year's report have been updated herein to conform with the new reporting requirements.

CASINO REVENUE FUND

Funding is generated through five casino related taxes and five casino related fees. New Jersey casinos pay the state the following taxes: 15 percent on Internet gross revenues (excluding sports wagering); 8 percent on casino gross revenues; 8.5 percent on sports wagering gross revenue; and 13 percent on Internet sports wagering gross revenue. Taxes from gross revenues are appropriated to the Casino Revenue Fund (CRF) for the benefit of New Jersey's aged and disabled citizens. Specific appropriations are detailed on the Casino Revenue Fund Advisory Commission's website. Gross gaming revenue is the amount won from gamblers after all payouts are made. Casino licensees are permitted to take a deduction for casino, Internet, and sports wagering promotional gaming credits, in excess of 90 million annually, (all at a rate of 8%) for the purpose of calculating taxable gross revenue.

The responsibility for administering these taxes and fees resides with the Division of Gaming Enforcement, Division of Taxation, and the Casino Control Commission.

- Gross Revenue Tax includes audit assessments, penalties, interest, and other adjustments.
- Casino Parking Fee: Casinos remit a fee of $3.00 per day for each occupied casino parking space. In FY 18, $0.50 of the parking fee revenue was allocated to the CRF and $2.50 was allocated to the Casino Reinvestment Development Authority (CRDA) for statutorily restricted projects and the benefit of Atlantic City.
- Casino Room Fee: Casinos remit $3.00 per day for each occupied hotel room. In FY 18, $1.00 was allocated to the CRDA and $2.00 was allocated to the CRF with a portion used to fund debt service on hotel expansion bonds.
- Multi-Casino Progressive Slot Tax: An 8 percent tax on casino service industry enterprise multi-casino progressive slot revenue.
- Expired Obligations: Casinos remit a percentage of each expired gaming obligation and a percentage of each unclaimed sports pool wager.
- Forfeited Winnings: Winnings of underage gamblers or excluded persons are subject to forfeiture. Forfeitures under $100,000 are split equally between CRF and compulsive gambling programs. For forfeitures over $100,000, compulsive gambling programs receive $50,000 and the balance is allocated to the CRF.
- Fines: The first $600,000 in penalties collected each fiscal year is paid to the General Fund for compulsive gambling programs and any remainder is allocated to the CRF.

Total Taxes and Fees Deposited Into Casino Revenue Fund for FY 2018: $217.57 million
